British Labor Party 'Bolts' Over Cyprus

MANCHESTER, England, June 10 (AP)—Hugh Gaitskell today disassociated his Labor party from Britain's official government stand on Cyprus.

He said Britain could solve the Cyprus conflict only by reopening negotiations with the exiled Archbishop Makarios or by turning over the problem to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"While the Labor party had kept silent during negotiations with the archbishop, it was their duty to express their disagreement with the foolish breaking off of the negotiations, the deportation of the archbishop and the subsequent policy of repression," he told a Manchester meeting.

Gaitskell, who replaced Clement Attlee as Labor party leader last year, called for a negotiated settlement to give Cyprus immediate self-government, safeguarding the rights of the Turkish minority on the eastern Mediterranean island and provide for its use as a military base.

Gaitskell said the Cypriots could be permitted to settle at a later date the question of Enosis, or union with Greece. This is the demand of the Greek-speaking population, which makes up four fifths of the island's half million inhabitants. The remaining one-fifth is Turkish-speaking and its spokesmen say if the British yield Cyprus it should go to Turkey.

"We are not in fact proposing a plebiscite today," Gaitskell said. "We are saying only this: Give self-government first hand, then agree on a later date for a decision on self-determination."

Gaitskell said he could see no justification for Prime Minister Eden's argument that Britain's present policy was essential to protect her oil interests.

"If Middle East oil is the real justification for our case in Cyprus, this is certainly not our affair but the vital concern of the rest of NATO," Gaitskell declared.

Makarios was exiled to the Seychelles in the Indian Ocean last March 10. The British accused him of leading rebel violence on Cyprus and said resumption of negotiations with Greek Cypriots could not take place until order is restored on the island.

Release Of Polio Vaccine Brings Change

HARRISBURG, June 10 (AP)—The state health department said today the release of additional anti-polio vaccine to Pennsylvania has enabled a broadening of the priority age group eligible for the shots.

Dr. Berwyn F. Mattison, Secretary of Health, authorized the granting of vaccine to persons 19 years old and younger and to pregnant women. Previously only children 14 and under and pregnant women were eligible.

Mattison said the move was made because 1,017,504 doses of vaccine were supplied Pennsylvania this month.

At the same time he again urged physicians to limit inoculations to the first and second doses because of a shortage of vaccine but added:

"Where third doses will not deprive some other child of the first or second dose, and you feel there are indications for them, we will accept your judgement."

Harriman Adds Fuel To Race

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The Democratic presidential nomination race appeared heading today toward a point where the South might exercise a decisive convention choice between Adlai E. Stevenson and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

If such a situation arises at the August party meeting in Chicago, the odds now seem to favor Stevenson for a nomination that suddenly acquired new luster and then lost most of it in the swift developments of President Eisenhower's illness.

The first rapid rise of Democratic stock when Eisenhower was stricken Friday turned sharply downward with doctors' predictions that the President will be physically fit to run for a second term, despite the emergency operation he underwent yesterday for correction of an intestinal obstruction.

While Eisenhower himself must decide whether to follow through with his Feb. 29 decision to seek re-election, the medical prediction that he would be able to resume full activity in four to six weeks.

U. N. Technical Assistance Program Spending Sets Mark

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—The U. N. reported tonight that 1955 spending on its technical assistance program set a record. Part of the money went to send Soviet experts to Burma and India.

The report said the year's obligations totaled $25,800,000. This was the highest in the history of the expanded program of technical assistance, started in mid-1950. It compared with a previous record of 23 million set in 1952.

State House Leader Raps School Veto

HARRISBURG, June 10 (AP)—Rep. Smith, House Republican floor leader, says Gov. Leader's veto of the school subsidy bill resulted in what he called a "financial Frankenstein" for school districts.

"The effect of that action was to saddle our thousands of school districts with sharp increases in costs without providing any means for those districts to raise the money to pay it," Smith said in a statement yesterday.

Leader signed into law on June 1 and extra $400 teacher salary increase over a three-year period but vetoed companion legislation to increase state aid for school districts by 19 1/2 millions in the current two-year fiscal period.

Smith said he was "very much disturbed" by increases in school costs and added:

The governor by his veto has told our school districts that they must go out and raise local taxes or violate the law he signed fixing mandated teacher salaries at higher levels.

The teacher salary boosts amounts to an extra $200 a year starting July 1 and $100 increases in the 1957-58 and 1958-59 school years. Leader ruled out as unconstitutional an immediate $100 cost-of-living bonus.

Argentina Crushes Short Revolution

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, June 10 (AP)—The government said today it had crushed a bloody 12-hour revolt by followers of Juan D. Peron, ousted President of Argentina, in four major cities.

About 40 leaders of the revolt were shot on the spot in an unprecedented crackdown under martial law. Three more were waiting execution. The revolt leaders fled or were in hiding.

Jet fighters and heavy navy bombers smashed to smoking ruin the last two rebel strongholds at La Plata, capital of Buenos Aires Province, and the city of Santa Rosa to the west.

The revolt already had been put down in Buenos Aires, capital of the country, and Rosario, second largest city.

Boston Hoodlum Found Dead

BOSTON, June 10 (AP)—A Boston hoodlum described by police as an FBI informant in the $1218,000 Brink's robbery was found shot to death today in an automobile in the rear of Fargo Navy barracks in the south end.

Police identified the man as William J. Cameron, 49, an ex-convict who had been questioned several times in the Brink's case.

Eisenhower Takes First Short Walk

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower got on his feet and walked with some assistance today—30 hours after undergoing surgery.

The President and his doctors, who reported his recovery is proceeding normally without complications, decided against a second attempt at walking a few hours later, however.

While not complaining of the pain, Eisenhower was quoted as having said "Once was enough." Medical bulletins issued during the day at Walter Reed Army Hospital described the President's condition as "excellent" and said his progress after yesterday's pre-dawn emergency operation "continues uneventful."

No light was shed on the President's political future. James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, declined to speculate on whether Eisenhower's illness, following a heart attack of last September, might cause him to withdraw his candidacy for re-election.

Hagerty said in response to a question that Eisenhower had not volunteered any information on the subject.

The President's first post-operative steps this morning took him about 15 feet from his bed to a chair, where he sat for about 10 minutes, and then back again. While sitting in the chair he practiced deep breathing.

At 5 p.m., the doctors issued this bulletin: "The progress of the President's condition continues uneventful."

"He has had a fairly comfortable day. He has napped at intervals throughout the day."

Hagerty said no further bulletins were planned until 8 a.m. tomorrow. Asked about the word "uneventful," he said that was "one way of saying everything continues to be normal."

He added, in response to questions, that the reason doctors nowadays feel a patient should do some walking quite soon after surgery such as the President underwent is that "The general body tone is greatly enhanced and convalescence is greatly hastened toward final restoration."

As for the possibility of Eisenhower resuming some official duties, Hagerty recalled that Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, the Walter Reed commandant who headed the operating team, said yesterday that the President probably would be able to confer with some of his aides starting tomorrow or Tuesday.

The plan is, Hagerty said, to set up a White House staff office tomorrow in a lounge near Eisenhower suite at the hospital.

Other visitors to the President's room today included his son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower. Today was their ninth wedding anniversary.

On leaving the hospital the President's son said he thought his father "looked fine."

The White House announced, meanwhile, the President's schedule through mid-July is "under study"—meaning Eisenhower may or may not be able to attend the June 25-26 meeting of American presidents at Panama City or his scheduled talks here with Prime Minister Nehru of India July 7 to 10.

As for the big question—will the President still be willing and able to run for re-election—press secretary James C. Hagerty repeated the answer he gave after Eisenhower's heart attack of last Sept. 24.

"I have just one thought in my mind," Hagerty said, "and that is to get the President of the United States out of the hospital."

Hagerty said the President—who has a stomach drainage tube in his nostrils and consequently is not able to rest completely—took his first steps about 30 hours after undergoing surgery to correct an intestinal block that doctors said could have caused his death.

New Grandniece For President

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10 (AP)—A new grandniece for Pres. Eisenhower was reported doing fine at Franklin Hospital today with her mother, Mrs. Lloyd Eisenhower.

Lloyd Eisenhower, an attorney, is the son of the late Roy Eisenhower, Junction City, Kan., a brother of the President. Roy died in 1942.

Rhine Draws Life Sentence

HARRISBURG, June 10 (AP)—Paul M. Rhine was sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday for the murder of a nearby Highspire woman last Easter Sunday.

Judge Homer L. Kreider fixed the penalty for Eastern State Penitentiary at a brief session of the murder of Mrs. Ida B. Hernandez.

Milton Eisenhower, who has submitted his resignation as president of Pennsylvania State University, says he "will make no decision about the future until I have a long vacation and return about the first of August."

Dr. Eisenhower reiterated yesterday to newsmen that his resignation reasons were "purely personal."

He declined to comment directly on a report that he may become president of Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore.

Dr. Eisenhower's resignation was announced Friday after he flew to Washington to visit his brother, the President, who was stricken with an intestinal obstruction.

Pleased Dr. Eisenhower said after the President's operation that he was "delighted by his appearance and spirits and by the reports from the doctors here today."

At University Park, Pa., associates said they thought the resignation was made for "intensely personal considerations and bore no connection whatsoever to his advisory role in Washington."

The Penn State president has been one of his brother's chief advisers on Latin America.

Chairman George H. Dieke of the university's board of trustees said he would ask Dr. Eisenhower to reconsider the resignation.

Loan Proposed To Halt Toll Hikes

HARRISBURG, June 10 (AP)—A two-year loan of five million dollars from unused construction funds has been proposed in a move to avert an increase in tolls on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Chairman G. Franklin McSorley said over the weekend he has discussed the loan proposal with Howard Peterson of Philadelphia, representing the trustee firm of the road's bondholders, the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Co.

McSorley said the five million would be borrowed as a temporary measure from an estimated 25 million in "savings" in construction of the 110-mile north-eastern extension from Plymouth Meeting to Scranton. Peterson said he agreed to take up the proposal with counsel for the bondholders.

Temporary McSorley made the statement as a Senate legislative committee got ready to renew on Wednesday its investigation of the commission's proposed toll increase of 41 per cent in automobile tolls and a cut of 20 per cent in truck tolls for trips across the state.

The proposed increase has been suspended indefinitely.

McSorley said funds for the temporary loan is available because of contract savings of 25 to 27 per cent in building the north-eastern extension. The extension now is completed to a point near Allentown and is due for completion throughout its length before the end of the year.

McSorley said the five million dollar two-year loan would provide a financial cushion to avoid raising passenger car tolls on the superhighway.

Harriman Clears Stand

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman said today any remarks he has made against "moderation" and "middle-of-the-road" policies "have been directed at President Eisenhower" and not Adlai Stevenson.

The New York governor, who announced yesterday his active candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination, said in an interview on NBC-TV's Meet The Press that he is not part of any "stop Stevenson" movement.

Saying he would not criticize or even discuss any positions taken by Stevenson or Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), Harriman described both as "fine men."

Harriman added that his principal interest in the California primary last week, in which Stevenson soundly defeated Kefauver, was in "the great Democratic outpouring of votes" for both candidates.

Stevenson said he was "delighted by his appearance and spirits and by the reports from the doctors here today."

Un-American Activities Group To Investigate Republic Fund

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Chairman Walter (D-Pa.) announced today the House Committee on Un-American Activities will investigate the Fund for the Republic at public hearings starting June 27.

Walter said the committee is seeking "the objective facts" on whether the fund—set up with a grant from the Ford Foundation—is a "friend or a foe in our nation's death struggle against the Communist conspiracy."

In New York, fund president Robert M. Hutchins said in a statement that one of the organization's main activities is sponsoring "studies of the nature of the Communist threat to American institutions."

Walter said Hutchins and Henry Ford II will be invited to attend or be represented at the hearings. Richard Arens, committee director, said Hutchins and Ford will not be asked to testify but may do so if they wish. A list of witnesses will be released later.

The fund was set up with a 15-million-dollar endowment from the Ford Foundation. Hutchins said it has assumed independent status.

Walter said in a statement that the fund is financing "a number of activities which have aroused criticism and doubt on the part of members of Congress, prominent patriotic organizations and individuals including Henry Ford II himself who has publicly described some of the actions of the fund as 'dubious in character.'"

"Is this foundation, with its vast reservoirs of funds and power, a friend or a foe in our nation's death struggle against the Communist conspiracy?" Walter asked. "Are its extensive and diverse activities strengthening or weakening our security structure in the Communist cold war? Are the leaders of this force, which enjoys the benefits of tax immunity, serving an interest inimical to our basic American traditions?"

Hutchins said "any judgment concerning the Fund for the Republic should be based on careful inspection of its three-year record of activity."

Since it was established in 1952, he said, the fund has allocated about 6 1/2 million dollars "to develop educational programs related to the individual liberties of American citizens."

"More than one-third of this sum has been devoted to the improvement of race relations. Another one-third has gone to supporting programs designed to stimulate discussion and understanding of the history and traditions of our free society."

"Other main areas of fund concern are studies of the nature of the Communist threat to American institutions, maintenance of due process of law, and protection against invasions of freedom of speech and belief."

'Twister' Rips Path In Cresco

MONROE County was bombarded for a short time yesterday afternoon by a furious mixture of rain and hail, which caused several power failures and left most residents astonished, dazed or frightened.

Meanwhile, a "small twister" confined its fury to one section of Cresco — causing damage to the property of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Seguire, the Lackawanna Railroad and Western Union.

The fusillade of hailstones — ranging in size from marbles to golf balls — slashed leaves from trees, shrubs and flowers. They also gave a sharp, staccato report as they pinged against homes and streets.

For a time, driving was virtually impossible in many sections.

Repairs An estimated 700 customers of the Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. were temporarily without electricity. However, repair crews quickly restored service.

About 50 customers were affected briefly in Stroudsburg, Reeders and Kunkletown when transformer fuses became wet and blew out. Other disruptions in PP & L service occurred in Paradise and Barrett Townships.

Meanwhile, Theodore Henning, local Metropolitan Edison Co. manager, reported that damage to MECO property was relatively minor. About 50 customers were affected for a short time in Marshalls Creek, Kunkletown and Poplar Valley.

About 325 Bell Telephone stations were temporarily knocked out of order. But service was virtually restored last night.

Wire Chief Neal S. Rote reported some disruptions were caused when a tree crashed against a telephone cable in Cresco as heavy winds lashed the area. But most of the Bell system's trouble centered around Stroudsburg.

Several persons agreed that a small twister actually rained through Cresco about 5:20 p.m. near the DL & W tracks, and apparently was expended in that area.

Wires Down Sgt. Harold Larson of the DL & W police, reported that the twister seemed to hit just east of the Cresco station. It took down Western Union wires, utility poles, and trees. Some signals reportedly were temporarily knocked out of order, and section crews were needed to remove the debris from a stretch of track.

Train schedules, however, were not affected, Larson said.

Meanwhile, Mrs. John Seguire disclosed that extensive damage was caused to a portion of her property, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Ayers.

Eight large trees — one about three feet in diameter — were literally twisted out of the ground. One of them broke under the strain and was blown about 10 feet before it crashed into a power line.

The roof and a window on the Ayers home were damaged, and the family car was also damaged by a falling object.

Meanwhile, fields, lawns and roads were covered by the hailstones in Delaware Water Gap. Although the rain quickly melted the snow-like white stuff in most locations, there were spots in the Gap still covered with it last night.

Layton E. Osborne of Delaware Water Gap, reported that the stones split his gladioli and also reported to have been knocked to the ground by the heavy pellets.

Many elderly county residents were unable to recall a time when so violent a hailstorm hit this area.

Alumni Group Elects Slate Of Officers

ANNUAL East Stroudsburg High School alumni banquet was held Saturday night at Mountain Lake House with 299 in attendance.

It was the largest crowd ever to attend the annual affair, organization officials said last night.

Retiring president Charles Reid Jr. welcomed those attending. New officers named were the following: William Luckey, president; Grace Palmer, James Harmon Jr., Tom Verway, first, second and third vice presidents; Fred Walter, treasurer and Carol Reid, secretary.

Disbursement

An account of disbursements from class alumni funds was given by Reid from records provided by class treasurers. The 25-year-class—1931—won the cup for largest percentage of attendance. There were 51.1 per cent of the class's membership in attendance. Mrs. Becky Altomose accepted the cup for the class.

Gifts to 1956 graduates from the association were presented. Group singing was led by Jack Gelinas. Prizes were given in numerous categories.

Highway Deaths Down In County

HIGHWAY deaths have been on the decline in Monroe County for the first quarter of 1956, according to a monthly comparative report of the State Bureau of Highway Safety.

The study shows there have been only two highway fatalities in Monroe County for the first three months of this year, compared to five for the corresponding period in 1955.

The picture was the same across the entire state, the report also revealed. Due to an unusually light urban death toll in March, only 165 traffic deaths occurred in the state that month.

Low Figure

"This was the lowest figure since February, 1955," the report said.

Monroe County was one of 27 in Pennsylvania to report lower death tolls for the January-March period last year, the study showed.

The report also revealed that all of the Monroe deaths resulted from accidents on rural roads. It further showed that no pedestrian fatalities were reported in Monroe County during the first three months of this year, although one pedestrian was killed during the same period in 1955.

Nearby Northampton and Wayne counties also showed declines in their January-March death tolls this year. But fatalities were on the increase in Carbon, Lackawanna and Pike counties.

You invest money and 10 years later you reap the harvest. But in school the teacher just kindles the spark in your brain to enable you to think for yourself, the learning part is up to you. Now at graduation as you receive your diploma, the interest we received from this investment in education will provide for us the rest of our lives, help us seek our life's job.

Tribute

Following the ribbon cutting ceremony, Judge Davis recounted the history of The Ground Observer program in Monroe County from the earliest days of his administration to the portentous days of the present. He remarked upon the state of the world when men of all nations do not have the confidence in each other that will allow them to live as brothers and to lay aside the extravagance of war in the calling of peaceful pursuits. He mentioned the necessity of the national Ground Observer system which acts as a war deterrent and helps to guarantee the safety of the American People.

Judge Davis paid tribute to the organizations and the men and women who have been an active part of Ground Observer work since its inception in this country. He praised the American Legion for the part they have taken in this work and the liberal use of their building and premises for Ground Observer purposes until the August flood of last year made the post inoperative. He pointed out the number of people who have helped to make this Post possible from the A. B. Wyckoff organization, to Earl Palmer, county Ground Observer chief, and the boys of the Vocational Department of the East Stroudsburg High School, who originally constructed the building.

Following Judge Davis' address, J. Fielding Vollers, director of Civil Defense for the Borough of East Stroudsburg, was inducted into office as Post Supervisor and presented with a certificate of of-

Community Loses Outstanding Leader In Passing Of Arthur F. Everitt At 83

This community was genuinely shocked yesterday to learn of the death during the night of Arthur F. Everitt, 83, for over 50 years an outstanding civic leader in many fields and a man who remained intensely active in the newspaper profession until only a few weeks before his passing.

Arthur F. Everitt was identified with an almost countless number of organizations throughout the county. His membership in each of these groups was on much more than a dues-paying basis; he was a "doer" in contrast to what may be described as a "joiner."

When he became affiliated with an organization, that body could rest in the knowledge that there was a worker who would subordinate his own personal interests, and labor diligently for the best interests of that group in particular and the entire community in general.

One of the best evidences of this can be found in the fact he was continued as an officer, usually secretary, in a great many organizations long after most men have retired to a simple life. Local and four-county firemen, motor club, YMCA, Kiwanis Club, St. John's Lutheran Church—these and others are all testimony to the activities in which Arthur F. Everitt was a dominant figure.

He was a man of vision, too. As a charter member of a number of solid civic groups, he played a prominent role in the development of Monroe County and the Pocono Mountains resort section. His energies were given freely, not for personal gain but simply for the benefits that would derive to the community.

His pride in the accomplishments of any segment of his adopted county, or any of its individuals, was unbounded. He was a devoted Christian, real parent, a gentleman in the truest sense of the word.

Arthur F. Everitt was a newspaperman by choice, yet he labored for everyone and for every activity that he thought was for the common good. He will be missed by his family and friends most of all, but his passing leaves a void in the entire county that will be difficult to fill.

Decision About Seeking Second Term Should Be Left Entirely To President

Nationwide concern over the health of President Eisenhower subsided over the weekend following announcement by a corps of physicians that his post-operative condition was "most satisfactory."

The President had undergone surgery Saturday for relief from an intestinal obstruction that doctors said could have caused death had it not been checked in time.

He took his first steps in about 30 hours yesterday and a medical bulletin reported his condition "remains excellent. His pulse, blood pressure, temperature and respiration are essentially normal."

Mr. Eisenhower is expected to remain in the hospital about two weeks before returning to the White House or his Gettysburg farm to recuperate. He "should be able to return to his full duties at the White House in four to six weeks from now," according to Maj. Gen. Leonard G. Heaton, surgeon who performed the operation.

While the nation as a whole rejoiced to learn his condition was not so serious as that which resulted from his heart attack last September 24, White House aides were taking Mr. Eisenhower's schedule through mid-July under study. He had planned to attend a June 25-26 meeting of American presidents at Panama City and to confer with Prime Minister Nehru of India starting July 7.

Partisan politicians, meanwhile, were speculating on whether the President's operation would lead to change his decision to seek a second term. Members of his own party were confident he would continue as the overwhelming choice to head the Republican ticket in the November campaign. Democrats were just as sure Mr. Eisenhower's position has weakened during the current illness and that he will withdraw from the race. His doctors said they see no reason he should not run for reelection.

Perhaps it would be just as well if everyone, irrespective of party, would refrain from pressuring or trying to persuade the President to come to any decision until such time as Mr. Eisenhower himself has an opportunity to make up his own mind on the matter. After all, he had promised when he announced his earlier decision to run again that he would not hesitate to decline the nomination in the event his health deteriorated to a point where he felt he could not serve the nation adequately.

He has the nation's best doctors at his call for advice, so we can assume that when the proper time arrives Mr. Eisenhower will reach the decision he thinks is best for the country as well as himself.

Columnist Listens To RocknRoll Piece, Then Sits Back To Ponder Fate Of Mankind

Rock 'n Roll

The mood of the generation is away from orthodox and fine manners. Men wear shirts untucked, trousers and women wear pants down to their knees. It is an age of non-conformity except as television dictates what to do about the skin and how to keep powder from being puffed all over the place.

So in music, it is RocknRoll and I have a piece of "Hot Rod Henry," according to its composer, Hal Block, who wrote me a delightful letter to say that he had changed a line to please me. Now, all my ambitions have been gratified!

I listened to this "Hot Rod Henry" piece and recognized a mood and a beat and an assertiveness. The strong down-beat is strictly from the jungle, but in this unorthodox age the jungle casts its spell the same as anything exotic—anything but home is supposed to be marvelous. Perhaps that is why the Italians who are born with a fine ear for music marvelled at Louis Armstrong's trumpet playing. I wonder if he can trumpet and talk simultaneously. The mood is universal and the Voice of America sends symphony orchestras and hot combos all over the world to show off our culture and certainly that makes more sense than sending a play in Spanish to a Portuguese-speaking country. The mood is for hot combos with a voiceless female singing sadly about love, as though love were abhorrent to her.

It is difficult for one generation to catch the mood of another and surely those who were reared on Tennyson and Longfellow to say nothing of Shelley and Keats wonder at what are called lyrics in the songs of the day; yet it is possible to go to the theater and see a play like "My Fair Lady," the authors of which are George Bernard Shaw and Alan Jay Lerner, who also wrote "Brigadoon," and the music for which was written by Frederick Loewe who has the gift of a Franz Lehár. There is not a moment in this play that is rough either on the ear or the soul. It is a gently beautiful operetta of a school that retreated before a popular penchant for sheer noise. And this play, in an older tradition of beauty of sound and words of wit, with vulgarity eliminated altogether, is the hit of the year and will be for several years to come.

So it gets down to the age-old question of taste about which many philosophers have written but the vagaries of which no one has yet explained. The sociologist, Lee Mortimer, writes learnedly about young women and pontificates as to what makes for beauty in the feminine form, but when a man marries a girl, he does not abide by any prescriptions but his own, and each man is certain that his choice is perfect.

So recently a baker's press agent wrote me of the perfection of store bread by which he earns his livelihood and he said that store bread is more nutritive than the bread his grandmother baked before women were liberated from household chores. I never met his grandmother and therefore cannot speak of her bread, but I did like the bread my mother baked and I am now receiving samples from ladies all over the country and were I to eat them all, I should get diabetes from excessive carbohydrates, which is sad to ponder as I prefer carbohydrates and fats and also protein in huge quantities, cooked after many fashions but never ignoring M. EscOFFIER.

In fact, before I was put on 1,500 calories without salt or sugar or fats, I used to enjoy excesses of perfection at such restaurants as the Colony, the Pavilion or Luchow's, places where one went only to eat as Lucullus might have eaten when Rome ruled the world and gentlemen knew that food could be an art. But now, alas and alas, I might just as well not have cultivated such fineness of taste and smell, for now I must learn to live on a slice of store bread and a chunk of unsalted meat which is called a high protein diet and designed to kill artistry in food.

So, on this 200th anniversary of Mozart's birth, I listen to "Hot Rod Henry," and ponder the fate of man.

Report Youth's Good, Not Its Delinquency

There is one piece of publicity I wish we of the press would take hold of. That is, giving American kids a build-up.

Many newspapers have promoted projects for the common good—highway programs, health programs, campaigns for a local symphony orchestra, a bigger and better police force, reforms of all kinds. And win or lose, they have done a bang-up job.

One thing we have not done, and I think it is a sorry commentary on the press as a whole. We are letting American youngsters go by default. A few papers feel the halo forming above their brows simply because they refrain from printing names of youngsters under 15 who are afloat of the law. A humane attitude, perhaps, for first offenders. But this is a negative attitude. Where is the concerted, unceasing news of our best and brightest young people? News which would make it impossible for middle-aged nitwits to proclaim modern youngsters aren't the best we have ever produced?

Ah, yes—the delinquent on page one? You know all about him, but what of the 10 superbly gifted unknowns, the hundreds of above-average fine citizens of the future, the thousands of average good, clean kids on whom our tomorrows depend? Why must we concentrate on the bad apple so incessantly that he seems to be in the majority?

The campaign I believe we owe our young people would give them an extra oar for going upstream, rather than unwittingly selling them down the river.

It is no matter of pride to know that certain young toughs carry switchblade knives, guns, and like to be known as "hoods." But we have to know it.

It is no matter of pride, either, NOT to know of Young Achievement Groups, science study groups, church groups, language clubs, sports clubs, Scout work, YMCA, the fantastic work of 4-H clubs. Of youngsters who help support families by baby-sitting, knitting, cooking. Of well-mannered, bright American youngsters who must themselves be a little confused at how little credit they receive for the unusually fine performances they turn in, and what great emphasis we place on the misfits, unfortunate and delinquents.

It would make better sense to applaud and encourage what is desirable in our young, rather than what is undesirable. And a real news pitch in the direction of outstanding accomplishments, you'd be surprised and humbled at what our best youngsters are doing—would surely psychobiological wonders on some who are easily led toward not high roads or low roads but loud roads.

Punks are bores, and I think it's high time we let them know where our real interests are—by every means at our command.

The biggest news story of the year might be how good our kids are, how much they are doing and how well they do it. Not flattery, not propaganda—just the facts are enough to de throne delinquency.

The pastor of a church in a small town was loved and respected by his congregation, but his salary was necessarily small, and when a prosperous congregation in a large city offered him double the fee to shift his allegiance, the local church could not possibly match the offer.

"I suppose," mourned a member of the flock to the preacher's son, "your father will accept the call to that big city."

"Dunno," admitted the boy. "Dad's on his knees in the study at this very moment praying for guidance."

"And your ma?"

"She's upstairs packing the trunks."

Robert S. Allen Reports

Indiana Governor Leading Choice For GOP Keynote

Washington, June 11 — Governor George Craig has the inside track for keynote at the Republican convention.

The Indiana has potent backing for this stellar role. Foremost among them is National Chairman Leonard Hall. But Craig has vigorous competition, and the selection is still undecided.

Crowding Craig for the prize are Governor Christian Herter, who is being strongly boosted by House Republican Leader Joe Martin, Mass.

Governor Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin, who made the nominating speech for President Eisenhower at the 1952 convention. The Marylander is the most active aspirant for keynote, and is busily buttonholing party leaders for their backing.

Governor Goodwin Knight, who heads California's delegation, 3rd largest at the San Francisco convention, is a skilled and forceful orator, and on excellent terms with labor. His chief obstacle is the opposition of Vice President Nixon, whom Knight makes no secret of disliking.

Former Governor Thomas Dewey, who masterminded the President's nomination over the late Senator Robert Taft in 1952. The New Yorker would like very much to be keynote, but is doing nothing to get it.

Former Governor Harold Stassen, special assistant to the President on disarmament, who is keenly yearning to be keynote. But because of his white House position, the Minnesotan is likely to be chosen. Party chiefs are reluctant to name an Administration official as keynote.

Governor Craig's main handicap is the undercover hostility of Indiana's Senators William Jenner and Homer Capehart.

They have been warring bitterly with him over control of the state Republican organization, which Craig captured two years ago. Jenner is particularly antagonistic, as he expects Craig to run against him in 1958. Capehart, up against a tough reelection battle this year, is less unfriendly. But neither Senator can block Craig if the President wants him as keynote.

All inner signs point that way, as the Indiana has a number of potent recommendations. He is young; World War II veteran; was national commander of the American Legion; an original Eisenhower supporter; comes from the strategic Middle West, and is a high-powered speaker.

Vice President Nixon is also enthusiastic about Craig, considers him one of the "comers" of the GOP.

General Douglas MacArthur, keynote as well as a candidate in 1952, will be invited to attend the San Francisco convention as a "distinguished guest." But no special role is planned for him.

Note: Republican leaders of Congress are primarily interested in the chairmanship of the Resolutions Committee, that will write the platform. Senator Eugene Millikin had this job in 1952, but the ailing Coloradan has let it be known he won't be available this year. Senator Styles Bridges, N.H., head of the powerful Senate Policy Committee, and Senator John Bricker, O., 1944 running mate with Dewey, are eager aspirants for the Resolution chairmanship. But the White House is against both of them because of opposition to the President's foreign policies. Favored by the Administration is either Senator George Aiken, Vt., who led the battle for the President's farm program, or Senator Frank Carlson, Kans., one of the original Eisenhower boosters. Actually, key planks of the platform will be drafted in Washington and taken to the convention to ensure that they meet the President's views and policies.

The Bandwagon — A vigorous backstage drive is underway to lineup a big majority of the 27 Democratic governors for Adlai Stevenson.

Fifteen of them have already agreed to that.

They include Governors George Leader, Pa.; Orval Fobus, Ark.; Orville Freeman, Minn.; Marvin Griffin, Ga.; John Stuns Jr., N. M.; Abraham Ribicoff, Conn.; Leroy Collins, Fla.; Earl Long, La.; Edmund Muskie, Me.; Robert Meyner, N. J.; Thomas B. Stanley, Va.; Dennis Roberts, R. I.; William Marland, W. Va.; Luther Hodges, S. C.; James Coleman, Mass.

The plan is for the state executives to issue a joint statement at an opportune moment urging Stevenson's speedy nomination at the Chicago convention.

Efforts are also being made for them to be joined by a large group of senators and representatives. Senator Hubert Humphrey, Minn., strongly favors this and is lining up legislators. His aim is to win the support of Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson.

If the two Texans should throw their considerable influence to Stevenson, that would clinch his nomination.

Rayburn and Johnson are militantly against both Governor Harriman and Senator Kefauver. If they effect an alliance, the move could lead to a Rayburn-Johnson declaration for Stevenson.

On Broadway

—by Walter Winchell

The Broadway Lights Overdue: Roberta Sherwood's debut was the most thrilling in Copia history. The "hard-boiled" New Yorkers cheered, bravo'd and stood up to give her a deafening ovation. No other star there was ever so honored . . .

"The Lark" was among the productions that called it a season last night. The others were "The Great Sebastians" and "Godot" . . . "The Lark," despite a majority of sugary notices, ta-ta'd with a $65,000 deficit . . . Only 11 of the 18 current attractions are expected to survive the wilted-collar months . . . "My Fair Lady," the biggest click in years, is excluded from Variety's list of current hits. Cautiously placed in the category titled "Status not yet determined" . . . The rich-get-richer: The only person to make a profit on the "Follies" disaster was Irving Berlin. He received $1 for his tune: "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody" . . . "Shangri-La," which just added 3 new ditties, opens Wednesday . . . After winning the approval of Boston inspectors, "New Faces" challenges Broadway Thursday eve's. The final premiere . . . "Joy Ride" received a joyous review from one Chicago oracle and was taken for a ride by the others.

In the Wings: The late Charles MacArthur's wit was legendary and profound, yet buoyant. Example: His description of a Hollywood producer: "He's just a bundle of nerve!" . . . MacArthur's comment about a famed actress describes them all. "She has one sincere emotion, Self-pity" . . . The Sardi's crowd wondered why the "intellectuals" hadn't responded with the $70,000 that the "Godot" producer needed to keep the double-talker running . . . "Maybe," mumbled a critic, "the intellectuals are getting intelligent."

The Magic Lanterns: Burt Lancaster and Anthony Curtis swing jauntily through "Trapeze," albeit the yarn occasionally flies through the air with the greatest of elches. The acrobats are not so fascinating as Gina Lollobrigida, the acrobat . . . "Texas Lady" has Claudette Colbert, of all people, as the Prairie Flower. The film is a routine romp . . . "The Animal World" is a blog of Mr. and Mrs. Jungle. An interesting saga from the initial bang to the final claw . . . A Britisher named "Cockleshell Heroes" goes to war to make box-offices safe for entertainment . . .

Arthur Everitt, Area Civic Leader, Succumbs

A resident of 720-A Main St., Stroudsburg, he was 82 at the time of his death. He had been ill the past year. Despite failing health he had continued active participation in organizations to which he belonged and at work on this newspaper.

Briefly, his major activities included the following:

- (1) Editor of The Record for nearly 20 years after its founding as a weekly in 1908 and as a daily in 1909.
- (2) Past president of Four County Firemen's Association.

Negotiations Between Ronson, Union To Resume With Federal Mediator In Charge

NEGOTIATIONS between the Ronson Corp. and the International Association of Machinists will resume today in an effort to end the strike of some 750 Ronson workers at the three East Stroudsburg plants.

A company spokesman announced last night that Federal Mediator Walter Moser has agreed to conduct another negotiation session at 10 a. m. today at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. This will be the first meeting since the workers went on strike June 1.

Meanwhile, the union has scheduled another membership meeting for 8 this morning at the American Legion Home in East Stroudsburg.

State Crafts Fair To Be Held At College In July

THE 11th ANNUAL STATE CRAFTS FAIR, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Guild of Craftsmen, will be held at the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, college and Guild officials announced today.

The Fair, which is free to the public, runs for three days—July 27 through 29. Featured at the Fair will be some of the finest examples of silversmithing, woodworking, jewelry, weaving, hand made clothing, lace making, pottery and enameling being done today. The work of guild members has achieved such high honor as being selected by Eleanor Roosevelt as a wedding present for Queen (then Princess) Elizabeth of England. Another Guild member was commissioned to do a silver crest for the King of Thailand.

While many of the craftsmen are amateurs, a goodly number have become so successful in their chosen craft that they have made their hobby into their sole livelihood. In addition to putting their finest work on display for the public to see, the craftsmen will stage many "live" demonstrations. Most of the items on display will be for sale to the public or to store buyers.

One of the highlights of the Fair will be a Fashion Show featuring men's and women's clothing hand made by members from their own hand-woven fabrics.

In announcing that the Fair would be held at the College for the second time, Dr. Theodore C. Moore, acting president of the College, commended the Guild for its outstanding cultural, artistic and practical contributions. Dr. Moore stated, "through activities of craft organizations, the earliest and finest American art form is being revitalized. The Pennsylvania Guild of Craftsmen has received the enthusiastic support of the State Board of Education since its inception. Today, crafts have taken on added significance because of their great value in mental and physical therapy and in the field of geriatrics. In many instances, craftsmen have new or vastly improved products for our everyday use."

In recent years, the Fair has drawn visitors from nearly all sections of the eastern U. S.

Harold Hardenstine, Pocono High School, and Gary Smith, Pen Argil, will serve as local delegates to the FFA convention.

Competing in the dairy contest will be Leo Berger, Polk; Robert Duran and Robert Mack, Pen Argil; Robert Butz, Bangor.

Livestock contest: Paul Borden, Stroudsburg; Jesse Miller, Bangor; Poultry: Ronald Smith, Polk; James Wagner and Douglas Bauman, Pocono; Raymond Hartzell, Bangor.

Farm mechanics: Willard Snyder, Stroudsburg; Agromony: Danny Lee, Stroudsburg; Ray Godshalk, Bangor; William Altomose and Marvin Hawk, Chestnut Hill.

Land judging: John Snyder, Polk; FFA Band: Larry Souder, Polk; Public speaking tournament: Stephen Drake, Stroudsburg.

Child Hurt In Four-Car Accident

A TWO-YEAR-OLD was slightly injured—and a total of $650 damage was caused—last night when four cars piled up near the detour on Route 611 in Bartonsville.

Stroudsburg State Police said Stephen Doyno, 2, son of Richard F. Doyno, 26, of Clarks Summit, suffered a laceration of the forehead when he was thrown against the dashboard of his father's car. The youngster was treated at General Hospital and later discharged.

Going South
Doyno's car was going south on Route 611 at 7:20 p. m., when it crashed into the rear of another vehicle operated by James Kerber, 22, of Avoca, troopers said. The Kerber auto then crashed into the rear of a car driven by Duane Walek, 28, of Wind Gap, causing it to strike the rear of a fourth car operated by Imogene McComsey, 25, of Lancaster.

Perfume That Clings

PENNY: I've just made the most sensational discovery! Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet—a creamy pink perfume that really clings.

SALLY: Smells divine. But what makes it cling?

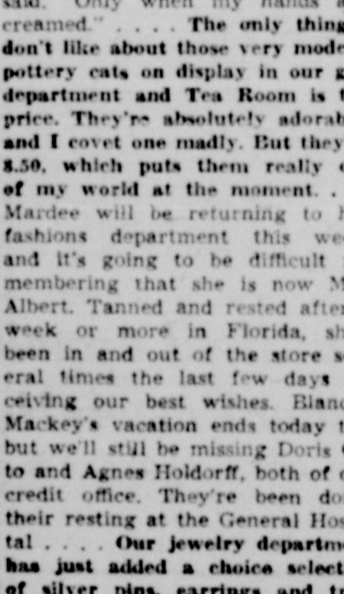

PENNY: It's Chantilly perfume that makes it smell so heavenly, and the sachet that makes it cling. You put it right on your skin, and no where else.

SALLY: But don't you have to use an awful lot to make it last like that?

PENNY: Not this! Just a few drops cling for hours. You really owe it to yourself to try it. It's real perfume for only $2.00 plus tax at Wyckoff's.

Several power linemen suffered quite a shock following the recent "near hurricane," but it wasn't the kind one usually gets when working around electricity. Busy in a rural area, they inadvertently turned a powerful spotlight on a home during the late evening hours. Startled, the woman of the house (who by day happens to be one of our most attractive salesgirls) leaped from bed, and appeared at the front door in nightgown, pin curls, and GLOVES. "Do you always dress formal for bed?" we wanted to know. "Oh, no," she said. "Only when my hands are creamed." . . . The only thing I don't like about those very modern pottery cats on display in our gift department and Tea Room is the price. They're absolutely adorable, and I covet one madly. But they're $5.00, which puts them really out of my world at the moment. . . . Mardee will be returning to her fashions department this week, and it's going to be difficult remembering that she is now Mrs. Albert. Tanned and rested after a week or more in Florida, she's been in and out of the store several times the last few days receiving our best wishes. Blanche Mackey's vacation ends today too, but we'll still be missing Doris Otto and Agnes Holdorf, both of our credit office. They're being doing their resting at the General Hospital. . . . Our jewelry department has just added a choice selection of silver pins, earrings and trinkets from Mexico. And I wonder if I ever mentioned the lovely floral jewelry for summer now on display? I see that what I had considered only a bracelet is being purchased by some of the girls for decorating their chignons. A cute idea! . . . Some of the beach wear for men, on display in our Men's Shop, is enough to dazzle you speechless. We women approve, however. If you've any doubt, just stand and watch wives and daughters of all ages selecting Father's Day gifts. . . . Father's Day falls this coming Sunday, the 17th, you know, and Jean Decker of our gift wrap center reports that "already it looks like Christmas." . . . Tomorrow is the big accessories show in New York, with a station wagonload of Wyckoff department heads and such prepared to attend. Also in New York this week are Betty Colvin and May Coffman of the corset department. So do keep an eye on Wyckoff's. Whenever something new comes along, our store is among the first to know—and you can depend upon seeing the "fads and fancies" shortly upon Wyckoff display cases. . . . The girls in our stationery department tell us that Thomas Knepp's book, "The Poconos" is selling like mad. After the column and Shorty Widmer's radio program last Tuesday, our entire shipment went out and we re-ordered. Then Leonard Randolph's review came along and sales boomed once again. Now we remind you that whether you are a native of the Poconos or a visitor to this area, you will find this 1.00 volume beautiful, informative, and a perfect souvenir. . . . Our stationery department has a number of pretty purse accessories that may interest you. One is a shopping guide that comes in a leather covered, wallet-like folder, and contains a complete list of staples, plus "pin heads" to mark your needs. Another leather folder contains a slim pad, a tiny ball point pen and pencil, and a third is for keys, but features a built-in flashlight. This latter is a particularly wonderful idea, I think. The prices are in the 1.00 and slightly-higher category, so you can't go wrong. And, while you're shopping stationery, remember those Father's Day cards.

Telephone Workers Earn Wage Hikes

WAGE INCREASES ranging from $2.50 to $5 a week have been granted to some 136 permanent and temporary employees of the Stroudsburg office of the Bell Telephone Co.

This was announced last night by Mrs. Ethel Peckman, chairman of the Scranton District of the Pennsylvania Telephone Union, which is affiliated with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

About 12,500 telephone workers throughout Pennsylvania will receive pay boosts as provided in a contract which was signed in Philadelphia June 6 by company and union representatives, Mrs. Peckman disclosed. It will remain in effect until June 6, 1957.

Basic Increases — Mrs. Peckman said the local employees will receive basic increases between $2.50 and $5, and top rate workers will receive an additional $2 weekly because of reclassification of the Stroudsburg office, putting it on the same level as Scranton.

Although Stroudsburg was the only office in the Scranton district to be reclassified, offices in about 40 Pennsylvania towns were also reclassified, Mrs. Peckman said.

Night shift workers also received an additional 20-cent an hour differential, bringing the total hourly differential for these employees to 90-cents, she said.

Mrs. Peckman also reported that the new pact provides for other benefits for operators, supervisors, senior operators, desk assistants, desk attendants and service observers.

'57 Grid Card Of Lehigh Has Three Changes

BEVILHISEM — Western Reserve University, Columbia University of Buffalo will be football opponents for the Lehigh University Engineers in 1957. The announcement was made yesterday by Brig. Gen. P. L. Sadler, director of intercollegiate athletics and physical education at Lehigh.

In announcing the 1957 schedule of nine games, Gen. Sadler said the three new opponents will replace the University of Virginia, Temple University and Albright College. Lehigh and Columbia have met previously on four occasions, with the Lions winning three times. The last meeting was in 1953 when Columbia won, 14-7.

Sixth Meeting
The 1957 encounter will be the sixth meeting between Lehigh and Buffalo. The Brown and White has won four of the five earlier games. The two teams battled to a scoreless tie in 1941. Lehigh won by a 27-0 score in the last get-together in 1953.

Western Reserve is a new opponent. The schedule:

Sore Armed Batsman Is New Cincinnati Slugger

By Frank Eck
AP features Sports Editor
EARLY one morning in Tampa, Fla., Birdie Tebbetts, Cincinnati manager, began chirping.
"I'm going to tell you about a hitter we got," smiled Birdie. "You won't believe it but wait until you see this boy. I think he's got more power than Milner's Hank Aaron."
"My guy is Frank Robinson. But he can't throw. His arm swells up. We sent him to Johns Hopkins Hospital and they said he has weak blood vessels which erupt. His arm swells so much that he cries. He's only 20, and it's good he's young."

First Time Up
First time up in an intrasquad game, Robinson blasted Joe Black's first pitch on a line drive 300 feet over the right center field fence. And he got only a part of the ball.
"Robinson's case reminds me of Allie Reynolds, when he was pitching for Cleveland 13 years ago," said Tebbetts. "Reynolds had a right elbow that would swell up twice the size of a cantaloupe. The Indians rested him, his elbow came around and he beat everybody for the Yankees."

Go to Terry Okay
"Bill Terry, president of the Sally League (Robinson played for Columbia, S. C.) says Robinson, a modest Negro, is a solid 6 feet 1 and 190 pounds. He's a natural hitter who was scouted out of McClymont High at Oakland, Calif., by Bob Matlack, ex-Cincinnati infielder. His coach was George Powles, one of the best on the coast."

In 1953, Robinson hit .348 with Ogden, Utah in C ball. In 1954 under Ernie White at Columbia he batted .305 with 25 homers in the A Sally League. Last year hemorrhages in his arm prevented him from playing more than 80 games. He hit .263.

Cried To Play
"The boy cried to play," says

White, now Nashville pilot. "I even tried him at first base so he wouldn't have to throw. He would roll the ball on the ground."
Robinson can throw all right now and ever since the season opened Tebbetts has his prize rookie playing left field and batting second. All Robby did in his first 20 Redleg games was to hit six home runs and bat .329. He accounted for 22 runs.

Can't Explain
Robinson is at a loss as to how he got his mysterious arm ailment.

"I wasn't hurt as a kid and I fell out of no trees," says Robinson. "But I guess I ran into too many outfield fences in the last few years."

K-E, Bangor AA Win LL Games

BANGOR — Kiwanis-Exchange got its first win in the Bangor Little League Thursday by defeating Fourth Ward 17-4 at the Pennico Field. John Heard with a double and triple and Dick Shoemaker with two two-baggers paced the winners.
Bangor A. A. tied Second Ward for top place by edging First 3-2 at Memorial Park. Jack Williams two-hit First to gain the win. Dennis Holland was instrumental in all of First's runs, counting in with a two-run homer.

Legals

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Board of Directors of East Stroudsburg Area Joint School Board, will receive sealed bids for School Buses, complying with the following specifications:
Engine—minimum HP 175; 300 minimum cu. in. piston displacement.

MONDAY, JUNE 11
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Keen forethought and smart management should bring good results. Needless sudden changes or decisions are inadvisable. Take sufficient time to plan and arrange your program with the whole week in mind.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Very good vibrations for mental work, research, solving financial problems and making sound investments. Domestic and artistic affairs under fine Moon aspect.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—A peak day for activities suited to your special talents and abilities. Those in advertising, writing, journalism and other professions can make fine advancement.

June 22 to July 21 (Cancer)—A top day for you, with your Moon, Saturn and Mercury in splendid positions. Labors, tasks, handling machinery, tools, gardening, dealing with plumbers, masons, etc., favored. Fine rays on the whole.

July 22 to August 23 (Leo)—Dentists, surgeons and scientists are especially encouraged now. Highly favored also are organizations for public welfare, both new and old well-established businesses, all mental work.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Don't waste time on needless work, making useless changes in programs which are running smoothly, but do capitalize on all honorable opportunities.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Not all personal wishes may be granted now but it is, nevertheless, a day for achievement, steady advancement, and getting ahead in family activities. Study new projects of value.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—This can be a fruitful, consequential day, depending largely upon how you handle obligations and regular routine, duties. Think before tackling new projects, but have faith.

November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius)—Don't retreat from a well-planned program during this splendid period. Your Jupiter, along with helpful Saturn and Moon aspects is on your side. A stepped up tempo with purposeful objectives should net gains.

December 24 to January 23 (Capricorn)—You can stand well and profitably with the best today. Don't fear competition or "hard bargainers." Meet them and show your mettle, too. Your talents highly valued now.

January 24 to February 23 (Aquarius)—Do not make thoughtless moves or scatter your energies and you can have a profitable, interesting and happy day. Plan wisely for the whole week's doing if possible. Indications are exciting for gains.

February 24 to March 23 (Pisces)—A little extra care in confidential matters won't be amiss but the day, on the whole, is inspiring, can be profitable and pleasant if you help to make it so. You should be mentally keener.

YOT BORN TODAY are delightful companions, full of energy, fun and always have new ideas of interest. You may tend to overdo at times, get yourself worked up when not necessary or wise. Organize your affairs so that you can work at a more even tempo and you will have clear vision, keener judgment and better health. You have unusual talents, skill in making a success in any honorable field for which you have training or liking. You persons have a good heart and have unusual, intriguing experiences. Always pray for guidance and patience. Birthdate: John C. Stabile, noted painter; Richard Strauss, German composer.
